The Fallen Soldiers Table

Those who have served, and those currently serving in the uniformed services of the United States, are ever mindful that the sweetness of enduring peace has always been tainted by the bitterness of personal sacrifice.

They are compelled to never forget that while we enjoy our daily pleasures, others have endured or may be still enduring the agonies of pain and internment.

We call attention to this small table which occupies a place of dignity and honor.

The table cloth is white, the purity of their intentions in response to their country's call to arms.

The single rose in a vase signifies the blood they may have shed for our freedom.

The glass inverted, they can't drink with us tonight.

The chair is empty, they are not here.

Let us not forget the sacrifices of those and their families.
